WHEREAS, Executive Orders have been entered over the last year and a half in response to the presence of COVID in our county to set forth restrictions on entry into and remaining within county facilities. Those restrictions have been modified over time in response to the circumstances at the time and in consultation with public health officials, including but not limited to the Arkansas Department of Health.

WHEREAS, the pandemic novel virus COVID-19 has continued its spread across the nation, including Arkansas and Pulaski County, and while numbers fell significantly this spring, the Delta variant of COVID-19 resulted in exponential growth of the number of confirmed positive cases.

WHEREAS, COVID-19 remains a serious threat to public health, and precautions remain necessary to ensure continuity of operations of essential public services delivered by or in Pulaski County facilities.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Barry Hyde, as Pulaski County Judge, by the authority vested in me by the Arkansas Constitution and laws of the State of Arkansas, as chief executive of Pulaski County, promulgate the following Executive Order in continued response to the pandemic novel virus COVID-19, effective upon filing:

If a person wears the HR-issued wristband, and maintains separation from other persons of six (6) feet or more, that person may remove their mask in and about county facilities.

All other persons must wear masks at all times in county facilities.

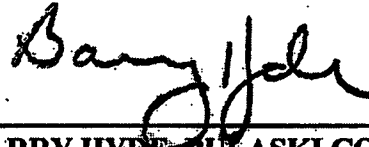

Physical distancing of at least six (6) feet is strongly encouraged for all persons in county facilities.

County services and county-supported services remain available to the public. Pulaski County continues to encourage the public and county-paid personnel to conduct business with or between the County and Courts digitally, by phone, email, online, or video conference and to utilize the digital tools implemented in response to COVID-19 to the extent that such use expands access to county and county-supported services.

Courtrooms and associated offices are exempt from this order and instead are subject to the restrictions, if any, imposed by the Arkansas Supreme Court and/or presiding Judge.

Voters entering county facilities are not required, as a condition on participation in an election, to wear a mask or other facecovering; however, the County Board of Election Commissioners is strongly encouraged to give all due consideration to the seriousness of COVID and to accommodate unmasked voters in a way that best protects the health and safety of election workers, county employees, and other voters.
